Fulton Center, MTA Arts, NYC Dreaming (52-channel video installation) | New York, NY, November 2016-March 2017

- TimeOut || Fulton Center video transforms NYC into a kaleidoscopic panorama; "The holidays are here, ushering in seasonal spectacles all over town, from Rockefeller Center to the Oculus. The Fulton Center has just joined in with a digital installation showing New York City as a procession of mesmerizing, kaleidoscopic views. Aptly titled New York Dreaming, the video is the handiwork of artist Anne Spalter. Sponsored by MTA Arts & Design, New York Dreaming plays on loop for two minutes at the beginning of each hour." December 9, 2016
- Untapped Cities || New York Dreaming Video at Fulton Center Shows NYC in Kaleidoscope; "A new large scale video installation from MTA Arts & Design has been unveiled at Fulton Center, showing New York City's architecture akin to a kaleidoscope. The work, New York Dreaming, by media artist Anne Spalter, is described as a "meditation on the city and the constant self-realization of its physical and psychic existence." With a strong focus on architecture, Spalter takes the New York City skyline and uses a custom software to turn these images into something psychedelic." November 29, 2016
- Architects Newspaper | New York Dreaming/WeWork opens offices next to Fulton Center's Sky Reflector-Net; "Also appearing this week within the Fulton Center is a new artwork installed by the MTA Arts & Design program. Titled New York Dreaming and by artist Anne Spalter, the kaleidoscopic video installation on show for the holiday season." December 7, 2016

- Billboard || Art Basel Miami: 6 Events You Don't Want To Miss; "check out the site-specific installation "Miami Marbles" ... by digital artist Anne Spalter, who created images on large spheres using photos and videos of Miami." Nov. 29, 2016

- Blouin Artinfo || Must-See Satellite Fairs in Miami; "Heading into its 12th year in Miami, [PULSE] is debuting its first special commission from the digital arts pioneer Anne Spalter. Attendees can view her manipulated photographs and video footage, taken from events during last year's Art Basel Miami Beach, on large-scale kaleidoscope-patterned "marbles" throughout the fair." - VICE || 16 Must-See Shows at Art Week Miami 2016; "There's much more to Anne Spalter's Miami Marbles project for PULSE art fair than meets the eye ... Spalter herself is something of a Renaissance woman: she majored in mathematics at Brown University, received her MFA in painting from RISD, and founded the digital fine arts program at RISD in the 1990s. If, against all odds, the Miami art scene doesn't provide enough stimulation this December, perhaps adding another virtual dimension, another layer of reality, will finally satisfy." Nov. 28, 2016
