ART PRESS

BKLN IMMERSIVE, CityPoint, 300 Flatbush Ave Ext, Brooklyn, NY. Ring of Fire (800 square feet of charcoal drawings, installation), May 6-14

- Creators || Exploring a Huge, Glowing, Immersive Warehouse Experience at Frieze Week, May 17
- Hyperallergic || Spring/Break Art Show Trades Labyrinthine Rooms for Immersive Installations, May 9
"Anne Spalter's painstaking covering of the entrance's outer wall with 160 charcoal drawings. Although they seem similar at first glance, each work is actually unique; collectively, they visualize the rhythms of ritual drumming. Spalter created an accompanying sound piece derived from a French Polynesian fire dance she witnessed. Its soft patterings enliven the sterile atrium and introduce unseen mystery into the room."

- Artnet || SPRING/BREAK BKLYN IMMERSIVE Is a Welcome Relief From Art Fair Frenzy, May 8
- Eyes-Toward-the-Dove || SPRING/BREAK Presents BKLN IMMERSIVE, May 9
- Playboy || Killer Art for a Good Cause: The Heliotrope Foundation is a Holiday Gifting Miracle; "Caledonia 'Swoon' Curry has always taken an interdisciplinary, humanist approach to her creations, and her latest project is no different." Dec. 24, 2016
- Forbes || Swoon Pulls 96 Artists in Fundraiser for the Heliotrope Foundation; "This fundraising initiative, which Swoon began in 2012, has since ballooned to include an impressive and still-growing list of contributors that reads as a clear survey of the most interesting and successful artists (period) working today." Fulton Center, MTA Arts, New York, NY. NYC Dreaming (52-channel video installation) | New York, NY, November 2016-March 2017

- TimeOut || Fulton Center video transforms NYC into a kaleidoscopic panorama; "The holidays are here, ushering in seasonal spectacles all over town, from Rockefeller Center to the Oculus. The Fulton Center has just joined in with a digital installation showing New York City as a procession of mesmerizing, kaleidoscopic views. Aptly titled New York Dreaming, the video is the handiwork of artist Anne Spalter. Sponsored by MTA Arts & Design, New York Dreaming plays on loop for two minutes at the beginning of each hour." December 9, 2016
- Untapped Cities || New York Dreaming Video at Fulton Center Shows NYC in Kaleidoscope; "A new large scale video installation from MTA Arts & Design has been unveiled at Fulton Center, showing New York City's architecture akin to a kaleidoscope. The work, New York Dreaming, by media artist Anne Spalter, is described as a "meditation on the city and the constant self-realization of its physical and psychic existence." With a strong focus on architecture, Spalter takes the New York City skyline and uses a custom software to turn these images into something psychedelic." November 29, 2016
- Architects Newspaper || New York Dreaming/WeWork opens offices next to Fulton Center's Sky Reflector-Net; "Also appearing this week within the Fulton Center is a new artwork installed by the MTA Arts & Design program. Titled New York Dreaming and by artist Anne Spalter, the kaleidoscopic video installation on show for the holiday season.”

Miami Marbles, PULSE Contemporary Art Fair's inaugural PROJECTS Special Commission (PULSE Miami Beach, December 1 - 4, 2016)

- Billboard || Art Basel Miami: 6 Events You Don't Want To Miss; "check out the site-specific installation "Miami Marbles" ... by digital artist Anne Spalter, who created images on large spheres using photos and videos of Miami." Nov. 29, 2016
- Blouin Artinfo || Must-See Satellite Fairs in Miami; "Heading into its 12th year in Miami, [PULSE] is debuting its first special commission from the digital arts pioneer Anne Spalter. Attendees can view her manipulated photographs and video footage, taken from events during last year's Art Basel Miami Beach, on large-scale kaleidoscope-patterned "marbles" throughout the fair." Nov. 29, 2016
- artnet News || Female Artists Take Their Rightful Place at PULSE Miami Beach; "[Miami Marbles is] PULSE's first stab at a specially-commissioned project, and it makes for a striking entryway to the fair." Dec. 2, 2016
- VICE || 16 Must-See Shows at Art Week Miami 2016; "There's much more to Anne Spalter's Miami Marbles project for PULSE art fair than meets the eye ... Spalter herself is something of a Renaissance woman: she majored in mathematics at Brown University, received her MFA in painting from RISD, and founded the digital fine arts program at RISD in the 1990s. If, against all odds, the Miami art scene doesn't provide enough stimulation this December, perhaps adding another virtual dimension, another layer of reality, will finally satisfy." Nov. 28, 2016
- VICE || 13 Works Dominating Art Basel Online; "These thirteen pieces are the like-rockets that have been showing up over and over on the art world's Instagram feed." Dec. 2, 2016

- The Financial Times || Art museums heating up Miami's cultural scene; "Visitors to this year's edition [of PULSE] will be greeted by Anne Spalter's installation, Miami Marbles: abstract digital images of the city printed on huge orbs." Nov. 25, 2016
- The Miami Herald || Women Artists to Look Out For During Miami Art Week; "There will be plenty of women at the forefront of this year's PULSE Art Fair. Among them are accomplished digital mixed-media artist Anne Spalter ... " Nov. 22, 2016
- Interior Design || 7 Standout Installations From Miami Design Week 2016;

"Anne Spalter's Miami Marbles, PULSE Art Fair's inaugural commissioned installation, features digitally manipulated footage of Miami Beach printed on helium-filled orbs. A custom augmented reality app makes the spheres swirl kaleidoscope-style." Dec. 7, 2016

- PAPER || Mega-Guide to Art Basel Miami Beach 2016; "Check out the site-specific installation, "Miami Marbles," at [PULSE]'s entrance by digital artist Anne Spalter. The artist used photos and videos of the city to create abstract images on large spheres." Dec. 1, 2016
- PSFK || Marble-Like Mini-Worlds Invade Miami Art Week And Your Mobile Screen; "even users who've never stepped foot in Miami Beach can summon up the marble-like mini-worlds ... the app has expanded the longevity of Miami Marbles beyond its original intent." Dec. 6, 2016
- Artsy || PULSE Miami Beach 2016 Programming; "By abstracting Miami's topography, Spalter encapsulates the vibrancy of the city within each of her expansive spheres. An augmented reality component will allow guests to engage with the orbs through an interactive interface." Nov. 18, 2016
- Whitewall || Your Guide to the Miami Fairs; "PULSE is debuting a PROJECTS section with "Miami Marbles"—a commission from digital artist Anne Spalter that uses photographs and video replicas of last year's Miami Arts Week, and digitally alters and distills images of the city's atmosphere, architecture, and foliage to create contemporary landscapes." Nov. 23, 2016
- Whitewall || PULSE Miami Articulates Postmodernism; "When approaching the two interfacing North and South tents, floating bubbles that seem to be retaining all the camp imagery of Miami from exploding, welcome you and set the tone for what awaits." Dec. 1, 2016
